North Dakota Critical Access Hospitals

History:

In 1926, a local Catholic priest, at the encouragement of community representatives, invited the Sisters of Mercy to come to Valley City and build and staff a hospital. After much prayer and planning, the Sisters of Mercy sent five Sisters to Valley City and the construction began on the hospital and on a nursing school for student nurses. The Sisters of Mercy and the community of Valley City took a leap of faith to establish a 5-story Spanish-style institution, which at that time was state-of-the-art. On May 15, 1928, Mercy Hospital first opened its doors to the public.

In 1952, the current 5-story north wing of the hospital was added to the building and in 1974 the original building was replaced with a 3-story addition to the 1952 wing.

In 1980, the Sisters of Mercy turned the management of Mercy Hospital over to the newly formed Catholic Health Corporation (CHC) headquartered in Omaha, NE. CHC managed the hospital until 1995, when the Sisters of Mercy signed a letter of intent to consolidate and be one of the founding members of Catholic Health Initiatives (CHI). Catholic Health Initiatives is now one of the largest Catholic health systems in the United States, and is continuing the tradition of the Sisters of Mercy through its core values.

Recreation:

Valley City is in southeastern North Dakota and is primarily dependent on agriculture and agri-business. The school system includes both public and parochial schools as well as a specialized curriculum for educable mentally handicapped children. Approximately 1,100 students attend Valley City State University, a state-funded liberal arts college. Excellent recreational opportunities include camping, picnicking, hiking, fishing, hunting, ice fishing, snowmobiling and cross country skiing. Valley City is just an hour away from Fargo, North Dakota's largest city.

This project is supported by the Medicare Rural Hospital Flexibility Grant Programs and the State Office of Rural Health Grant Program at the Center for Rural Health, University of North Dakota School of Medicine & Health Sciences located in Grand Forks, North Dakota.
