Conclusions

- The balance of migration into and out of North Dakota regarding medical school graduation location varies widely by state. It can be thought of as the state level balance of trade in training and practice destination.
- The market for physicians is a national one. Medical school graduates disperse widely across the nation and are strongly influenced by such factors as the location of their residency training, specialty choice, opportunities, home origins and their spouse’s origins, where applicable. The smaller and/or more specialized the medical specialty, the more nationwide is their specialty market.
- The largest number of UND SMHS graduates practicing out of state is in Minnesota (307).
